

I don't think the FCC should get involved in VoIP in any way. Let the free market determine who wants 911 service. We all know that once "Big Brother" gets his hands on something like this spawns more useless regulations that stifle free speech.